Two views—Senior & Frosh

As the close of my high school career draws near, I look at my experience in two ways. The first thing I see is that high school isn't the conversable jocosity that its facade suggests. Secondly, I feel that in spite of this, it was of some avail.

When I arrived on the high school scene I was overwhelmed by its complexities. I felt insignificant and unfit among the great athletes and club members. I was frightened by the enthusiasm of these people. But I said, so what, and decided to give it a try.

I didn't believe it. I survived my freshmen year and played three sport with so much spirit that I had trouble finding places to keep it.

Thinking I had attained the ultimate in high school existence, I started my sophomore year. But then it happened. My test scores started to fall and, gasp, I began to miss homework assignments. Due to my terrible adversity, I was forced to quit sports and give up part of my spirit.

The next two and a half years were living hell. I actually had to stay up late and work to get decent grades. Had it not been for weekends, I might have gone insane. Naturally, I was disappointed. I had expected a good time and all I got was countless nights of mental anguish.

However, as I look into the future, I see that high school has paid me an unexpected dividend. All those long nights weren't enough, and weren't spent in vain . . . I actually learned something! Even though all my dreams didn't come true, I gained knowledge. It will accompany me wherever I go and needless to say, it will be useful. With this in mind, I look back at my high school days and say, "It was worth it."

Rob Reipel
Class of 1977

The Freshmen Class of Snowflake High School has some comments as to their feelings towards their first year of "upper" education.

"I guess I've changed a lot too this year, like, now I have different values, different needs, different wants . . . I've met a lot of new people." (Annie Diehl)

"I felt terrible when school started, because the Seniors Seniors were mean. They said, 'Get out of my way.' It was also hard because I couldn't find any of my classes. I didn't really like school then." (Jonni Neff)

"The first week was like a bad storm that hit without knowing. I felt like everybody was staring at me and staring at every little mistake I made." (Alta Begaye)

"I thought it was going to be scary, but it wasn't." (Bill Muder)

"It has been hard . . . When I become a Senior I will pick on Freshmen." (Loretta McCray)

"To me your Freshmen and Sophomore years are your learning years. You learn and grow in these years more more than any other." (Janet Parrack)

"I feel more at ease. I know more about human nature . . . better campus and more freedom kind of help." (Dale Tigert)

"I think that I have become a more mature person. I feel that hanging around older people has caused this to happen. I have learned many new things in my classes. (Linda Boyd)

"I feel that they (teachers) should be respected and trusted by their word. . . . Our school may be out of date to some students, but to me this school is great and ever growing." (Jessie Liles)

"I am looking forward to summer because I am sick of getting homework every night." (Brad Solomon)

I hate to be finishing my freshmen year because that means I have only three more years of high school left left. (Tammy Wiltbank)

Mrs. Gilroy:
A great teacher

The dedication of the yearbook this year is respectfully given to Mrs. Eleanor Gilroy.

She is a great asset to the drama department for she has helped greatly in the making of costumes for school plays and musicals. Also, she has helped with fashion shows for the school and the Women's Club. Her talent with costuming has been highly recognized, for she is a member of the Uniform Committee of Snowflake High School.

Mrs. Gilroy is indeed a great asset to her community. She has taught night extension classes for Eastern Arizona College and Northland Pioneer College. She is a natural born instructor.

"Going one step further to help others," must be her motto, for she is a special help here at the high school. She has helped out at many school functions like F.H.A, COED, Prom, Etc. She is the sponsor of the Student Counsel and has worked with the F.H.A. Although most of her work is with females, she even went overboard to help the men. She started the Bachelor Survival Classes for any young man eager to learn the food and clothes facts of life.

Lastly, her respect for her God is noted in her active participation in the Roman Catholic Church. She has been active with the youth there, as well as at school.

Mrs. Gilroy, your love and respect that you have shown us is more than we can repay. What we could give to you would only be a murmur compared to what you have given us. For your concern for us, we again dedicate this book to you.

With love and respect . . . The Students of Snowflake High School.

Lobos come home

The Snowflake Lobos had a fine season this year placing 5th in the State and 2nd in the Conference. The worst thing about the season was that out of nine games played, 6 were away and only 3 were at home. Hopefully, next year fans will not have to travel all over the State to see a game.

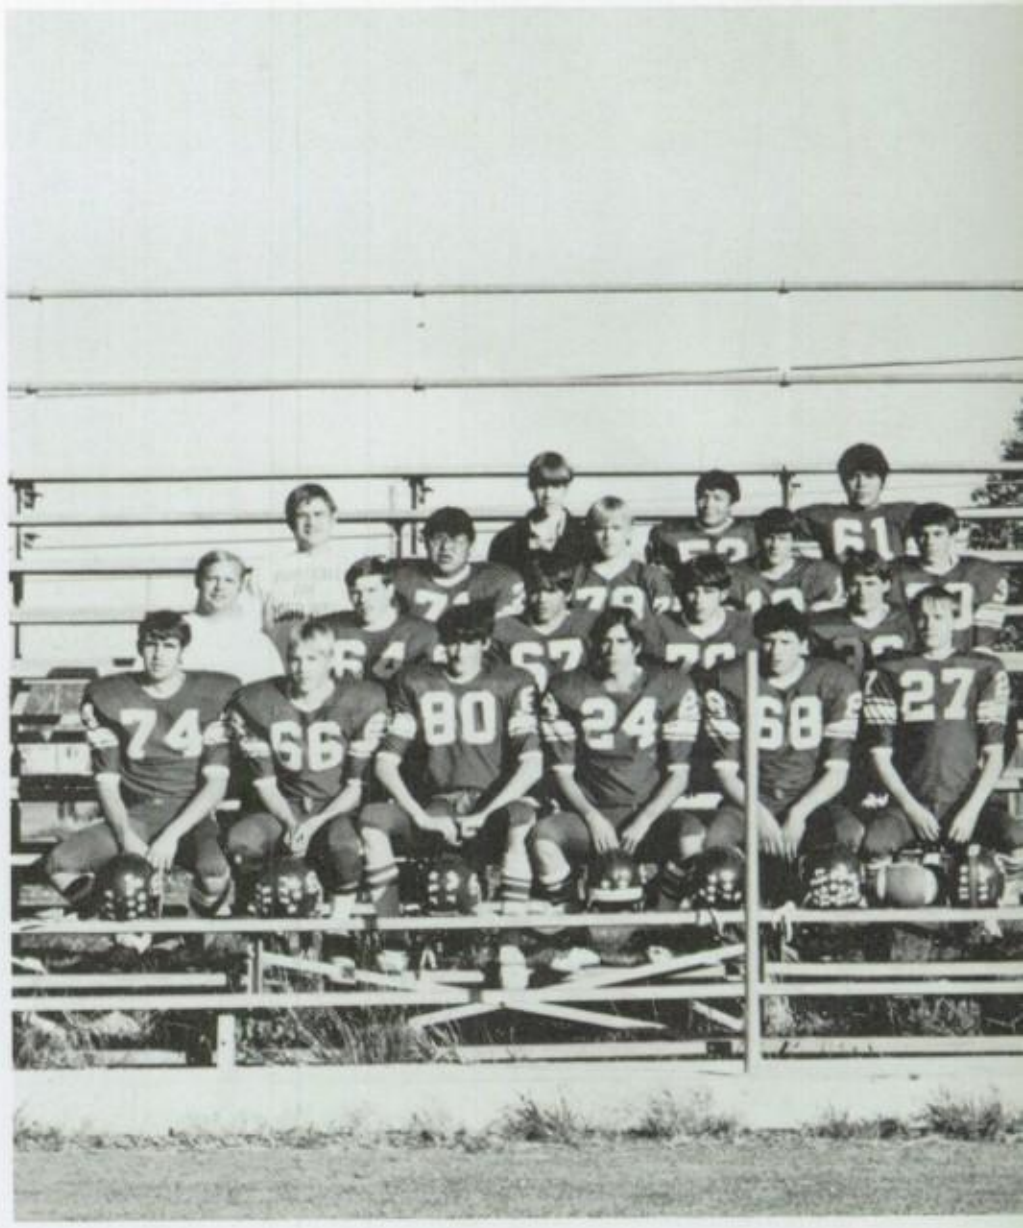
The 1st game was against the Blue Ridge Yellow Jackets. The 10-0 win was attributed to tough defense and a lot of desire.

Our first home game was against the Show Low Cougars, which as usual was no contest. The Lobos won easily 55-12.

Although the 46-14 Round Valley score looked like a push over for the Lobos, it was a great effort by all members of the team when it was needed.

Superior was the next game, and the Lobos were really glad to come out of it with a win. They won it by the seat of their pants 7-0 in the rain.

Next was another away game with the Lobos going to Kingman. The Lobos upset the Bulldogs at their Homecoming 37-0. The win was a great team effort with outstanding performance by Brian Aldridge, who scored 5 TD's.

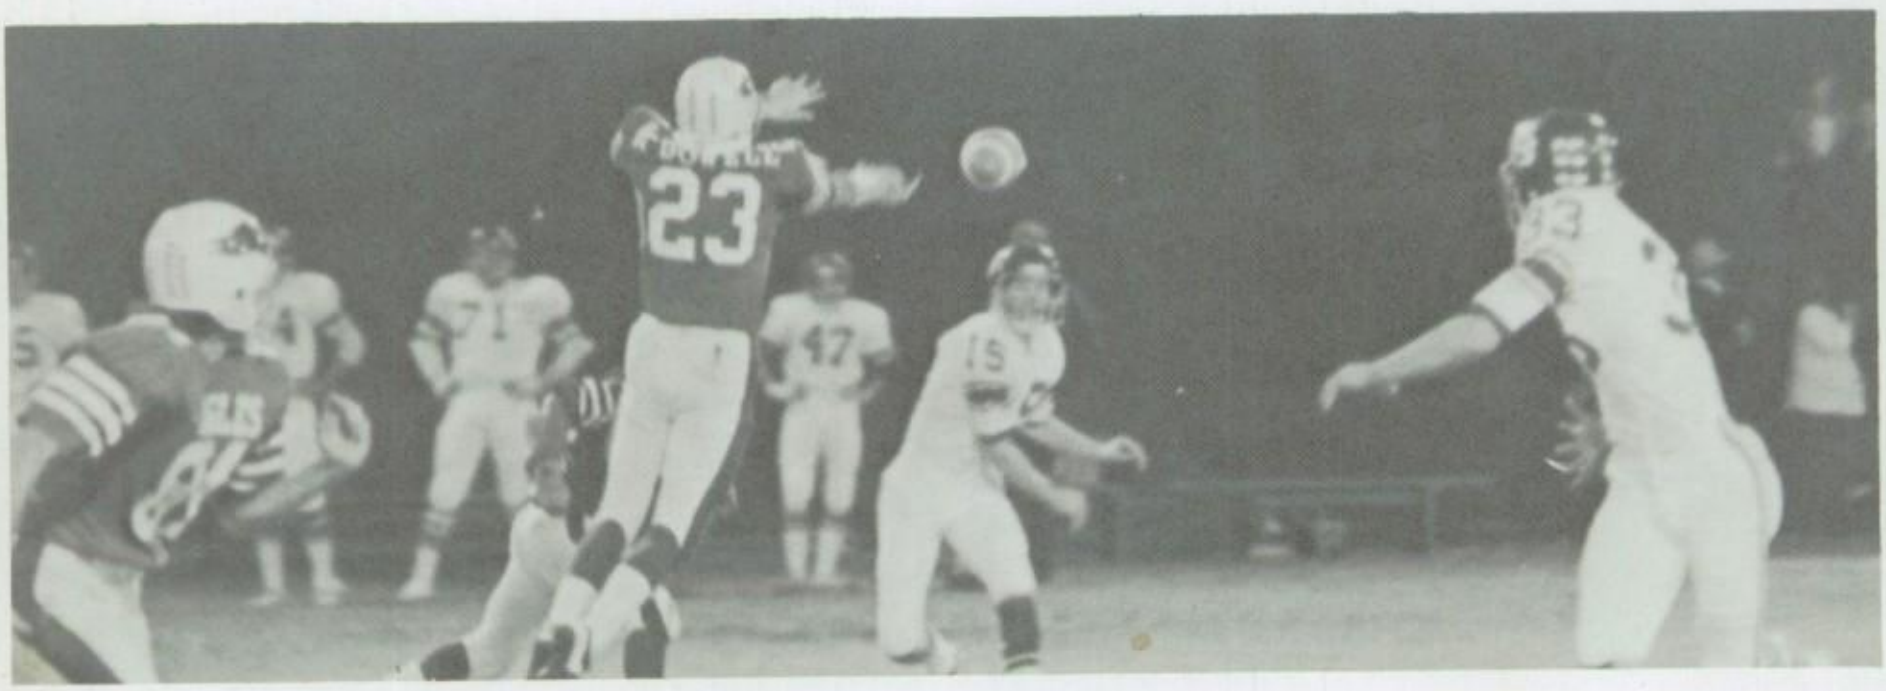


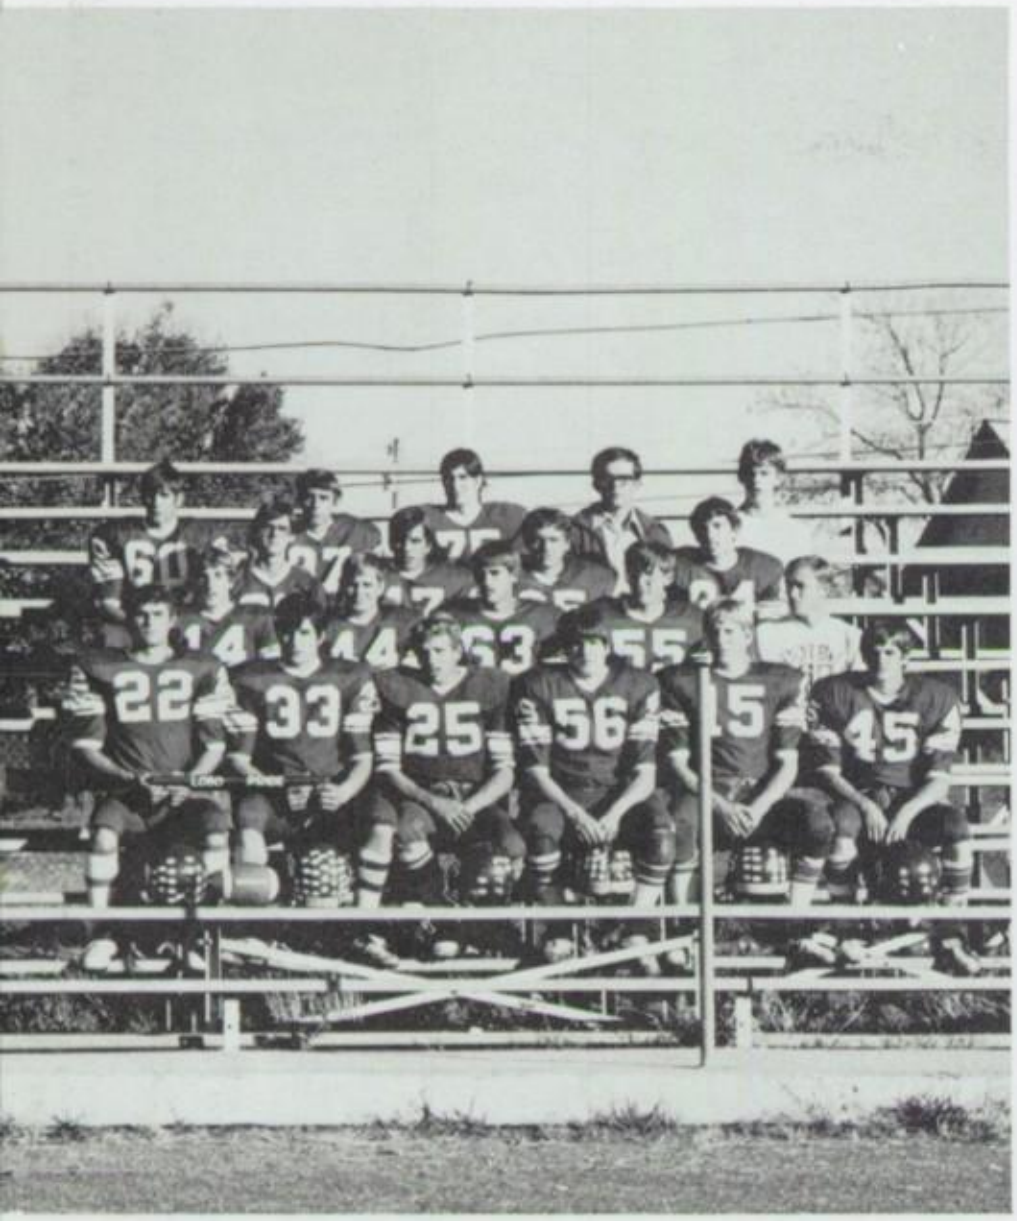
1st: Mike Russell, Bill Nelson, Dan Miller, Ed McMullin, Ben Yarn, 2nd: Paul Reynolds, Darrell Walls, Lynn Shumway, James Crutchfield, John Hibbard, 3rd: Darvin Wallis, Sevier Begay, Lon Willis, John Stout, Wendell Smith, 4th: (manager) Rob Leistiko, Livinston Nez, Tom Yazzie

The 1st loss came as a heartbreaker against the Flagstaff Eagles. The Lobos went in at the 1st half leading 23-7. The Eagles came out in the 2nd half, fired up, and beat the Lobos 24-23. The officiating was poor and the Eagles won it by sheer luck only.

The next game was to decide if the Lobos had a chance of going to the State playoffs. It was Winslow at Winslow. Poor weather proved to be the key factor of the game as the Lobos couldn't get their running or passing game going. The Bulldogs were the largest team in the conference and they beat the Lobos 20-7. However, it was a close game until the 4th quarter when the Lobos defense let up and the Bulldogs put their offense together.

The Lobos decided to get back on the winning foot again by beating the Coconino Panthers for the schools Homecoming 25-14.





1st: Brian Aldridge, Mac McCarthy, Keith Bigler, Joe Bushman, Jeff Schneider, Bryan Elkins, 2nd: Tom Hatch, Rodney Porter, Ray McCray, Shon Flake, Al Permar, 3rd: Mark Williams, Todd Gillespie, Shane Larson, David Smith, 4th: Steve Taylor, Randy Hall, Craig Patterson, (managers) Edwin DeSpain, Scott Petersen

The last and most memorable game of the season was against the Holbrook Roadrunners. Both teams were really fired up and the heat could be felt all over the field. A fight was bound to happen. But the Lobos decided to quit playing around and beat the Road-runners 29-7. By this victory the Lobos destroyed Holbrooks pride of Simmons and Son.

I would like to congratulate the Lobos and Coach Wallis on a fine season and wish then lot's of luck in the seasons to come.

The Snowflake Varsity Basketball team showed great courage and poise this year by sticking out the whole season without quitting. I think all should be commended for this fine effort.

The teams finer points of the year were beating Flagstaff 3 out of 4 times. However, this was still over-shadowed by the newly established record of the Varsity Wrestling team losing to Showlow.

The Varsity BB team tied this record, late in the season, by losing to the Cougars at Showlow. Despite threats made to the players, all survived the season.

The average day of a Snowflake High School wrestler begins at about six 'o clock, with a noisy alarm trying to get through to a tired mind. Little or no breakfast is very common to most wrestlers, since most are usually over weight. While trying to wake up he finds what he will wear to school that day and gets dressed. Next is the agravating task of starting his car or truck, which during wrestling months is quite often frozen throughout. Even after a wrestler gets his car started and gets to school, he often finds that the does get there. He also finds that the coaches car didn't start and he's stuck out in the cold until the coach does not get there. Finally the coach drives up to the school, and opens the gym door.

Have you ever tried to slip into a frozen, sweat soaked, practice uniform? I promise if a person isn't awake by now he will be before he gets that thing on. And I can't understand why someone doesn't leave the heater on in the wrestling room either. The mat's are practically as hard as the gym floor, the heater takes ten minutes to get going, and then another twenty to get the room warm.

After practice, wrestlers have about five or ten minutes to shower and they are consequently caught combing out the tangles in their wet hair when the bell rings. Then when he dashes in thirty seconds before the tardy bell, the teacher usually makes some crack about the way he presents himself in public. A dedicated wrestler simply has to swallow his pride and let it slide by, because to get on the bad side of the teacher could mean having to give up wrestling, the next time report cards came out.

Through out the day it is fairly easy to pick out the wrestlers while walking through the hall. They are the ones with no color left, that just stare into space as they walk by, or lean on strong girlfriends or lockers.

If a wrestler doesn't seem as friendly as he did before he started wrestling, one should try and understand that he probably can't hear you, nor because he's ignoring people, but because his concentration is almost constant and is very deep.

Wrestlers are not only tired from hard practice and little food, but also from restless sleep, as hyperten-tion often keeps him from a good night rest. Teacher's can't pay as much attention on class as previously, before he or she lables the student as lazy or irresponsible, and almost naturally grades drop after the second term. A wrestler goes through the day doing the best he can in classes, and the brave ones even try and maintain a good position on the social scale.

After school a wrestler prepares mentally for total exhaustion and fatigue while dressing out. The method of this preparation could be deceiving to someone not familar with what is soon to come. This method is the last laughter before death, and comes about through, for the want of a better word, "horseplay." From ninety-eight pound freshman to a two-hundred twenty-five pound heavy weight, wrestlers share a common bond. This is expressed throughout an occasion slap on a bare nonvital part of the body to the spreading of heat balm in a very vital piece of under clothing.

But all good things must come to an end, and so to with this fun. For after about ten minutes in the hot wrestling room, people begin to sense the seriousness of the situation, and the fun really begins. Dedicated coaches have planned and schemed all day, how they can most effectively get their boys in shape in the least amount of time, and even though in a little pain to make them tough. After about an hour with the heater going constantly and approximately forty bodies bodies panting violently, the oxygen is simply used up.

The Mat Maids tried their best to promote Spirit and enthusiasm throughout the wrestling season. During the season they encouraged the wrestling team by making posters and signs for spirit, throwing parties, and cheering the team on to Victory. If ever the team was down, the Mat Maids were always there to back them up. With all the long hours of selling honey, planning assemblies, and practicing cheers, they felt it was a very successful and fun year and was well worth their time.

Track and Field 1977

Racing and running made for a successful season in Track and Field. We participated in two dual meets, seven invitationals and two relays. Over all the season's record ended with 56 wins, and 37 losses.

We were delighted with this record because we were still a very young team. With these young skilled athletes coming back, we can look forward to an improved record next year.

The Snowflake Lobo Varsity Volleyball team had a very good season this year! They placed first at divisionals, and fourth at state. During the regular season, they only lost two games, and those were to Holbrook and Blue Ridge.

From what I hear, 4 members of the team, Karen, Karlie, Sheryl, and Meridon were nominated to High School All Americans. (They made it too!)

One thing that made this team a success was the good coaching, hard practices, dedication, and most of all team work. Good job Girls!

The primary function of student council is to keep the Snowflake High School student informed as to the happenings of the school. Student Council meets once a week under the direction of its president and under the sponsorship of its advisor, Mrs. Gilroy. Decisions made by the council are then sent to the administration for their approval. If approved, an activity is granted to the asking organization. Thus, by following this process, an organization or student may be heard.

Active

Active! Active! Active! FHA has been busy earning money this year towards the convention in April. We started off the year with a slumber party to get the new members interested and to plan money raisers. We made and raffled off a football quilt and sold Val-a-grams for Valentines Day. The FHA and FFA went together on the float. It was a volkswagon converted to a top hat. It did not turn out quite like we expected but it was fun. For Christmas we invited the FFA to our Christmas party and they invited our officers to their annual officers fondue party. Finally the state convention came around. Our annual mother-daughter banquet and installation of officers finished up our year.

What's new with the FFA? This year they tried a few activities with the FHA. For Homecoming the two clubs worked together on a float for the parade. For Christmas the FHA invited the FFA to their Christmas party and in return the FFA invited the FHA officers to their party. They planned to have the FHA work with them on the Sweetheart dance, but that fell through. Last fall the FFA went to the State Fair and attended the Arizona National Livestock Show. Over the year they attended several field days.

We were a brand new club on campus this year. Our purpose was solely to promote school spirit. You may have seen a bunch of girls wearing white jerseys with "Bleacher Buddies" on Fridays. Well, that was us! We have stayed busy this year making posters, raising money, and making locker signs. All this was to help promote school spirit. Our big dance of the year, Co-Ed, was an unqualified success. The decorations and music made the student sway to the spirit of the school.

The Lettermen's Club of Snowflake High School is an active organization which encompasses a large amount of the student body. In order to be a member, a student must participate actively in a number of sports, and have the recommendation of his coach. Once a member, he/she has the opportunity to participate actively in the growth and selling of the athletic program to the school and to the community. Each member is a representative of Snowflake High School at each event he attends.

Spanish Club

After a long period of inactivity the Spanish Club emerged from chaos and reorganized itself late during the year. According to popular opinion, it remained in oblivion and was in active for the rest of the year. However, it WAS organized. The advisor was Mr. Prestwich, Jonathan Massey was President, Phillip Langston was Vice-President, and Janet Cole was secretary-treasurer. Other members included Jennie Taylor, Janice Bruce, Bill Nelson, Amy Moeller, Randy Reed, and Charles Maxwell.

The club attempted to participate in many school activities, but succeeded in few. Only one activity request was passed, but the members forgot about it until it was too late to do anything. The club also made a tape for the time capsule. Later, everyone travelled to Hermosillo, Mexico to practice speaking Spanish and to experience contact with all aspects of Latin American culture. Funds were supplied by the Spanish Club.

French Club

Le cercle francais a commence avec des idées formidables comme aller en France ecrire aux a correspondants francias. Mais le voyage en France a été terminé a cause de la manque de l'enthusiasme pour gagner de l'argent. Pourtant, il y a une membre, Rosa Mata, qui va aller en France. En ce qui concerne les correspondants, duex membres ont recu des lettres.

The French Club started with great ideas, such as going to France and having pen pals. But the trip to France was canceled because of lack of enthusiasm to earn money. However, one member, Rosa Mata, is going to France. And as for the pen pals, two members received letters.

German Club

Formed for the purpose of envolving students in extra-curricular activities that help in the study of German. The German Club has been highly successful. As part of the membership fee to join the local club, the member also becomes a member of the Arizona Association of Students of German and the National Federation of Students of German.

German Club members can be recognized, not by their sauerkraut breath nor beer bleary eyes, but by their fine features and studious attitudes. They are also recognizable for their great prowess on the soccer field.

Thespians

We just didn't seem to get off the ground this year. We did accomplish a few things though, such as putting on two plays, Lil Abner, a full length musical, and Harvey, a 3 act comedy. Other than that we mostly just planned things that were never done. I guess everyone was to involved with everything else.

Members: Pam Minton, Pam Magee, Mark Rogers, Lori Tryon, Russ Crossman, Connie Langston, Weston Mills

Forensics

This year has been one that won't easily be forgotten. There was the time we left for Tucson an hour and a half late, so Mr. Van Gesen set the cruise control 100 and everything was cool until we reached Salt River Canyon. We had to stop at the bottom for a rest stop. Then there was the Page tournament. We ran out of gas about 7 miles outside of Page and the speech team has to push the van to a gas station. Lucky us! Above is the team with Mr. Burgess in front. 1st: Janet Cole, Pam Magee, Weston Mills, Connie Langston, Mark Rogers, Linda Boyd, Lori Tryon, 2nd: Jim Gonsalves, Lisa Boyd, Pam Minton, Russ Crossman

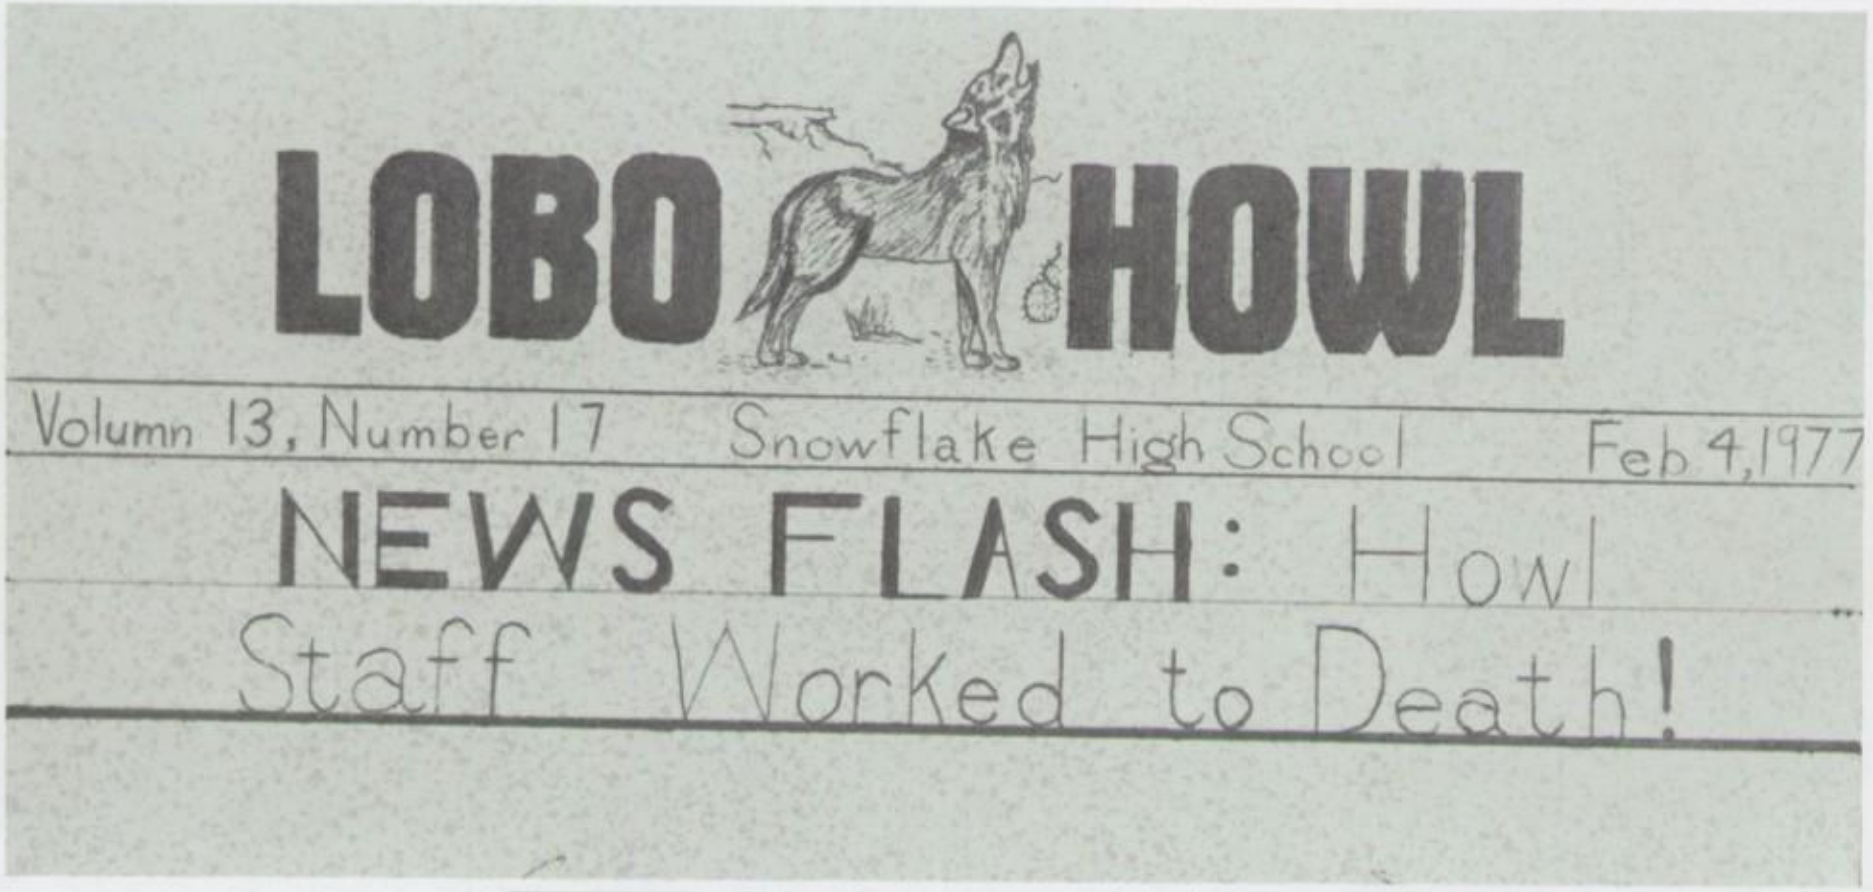
Yearbook!

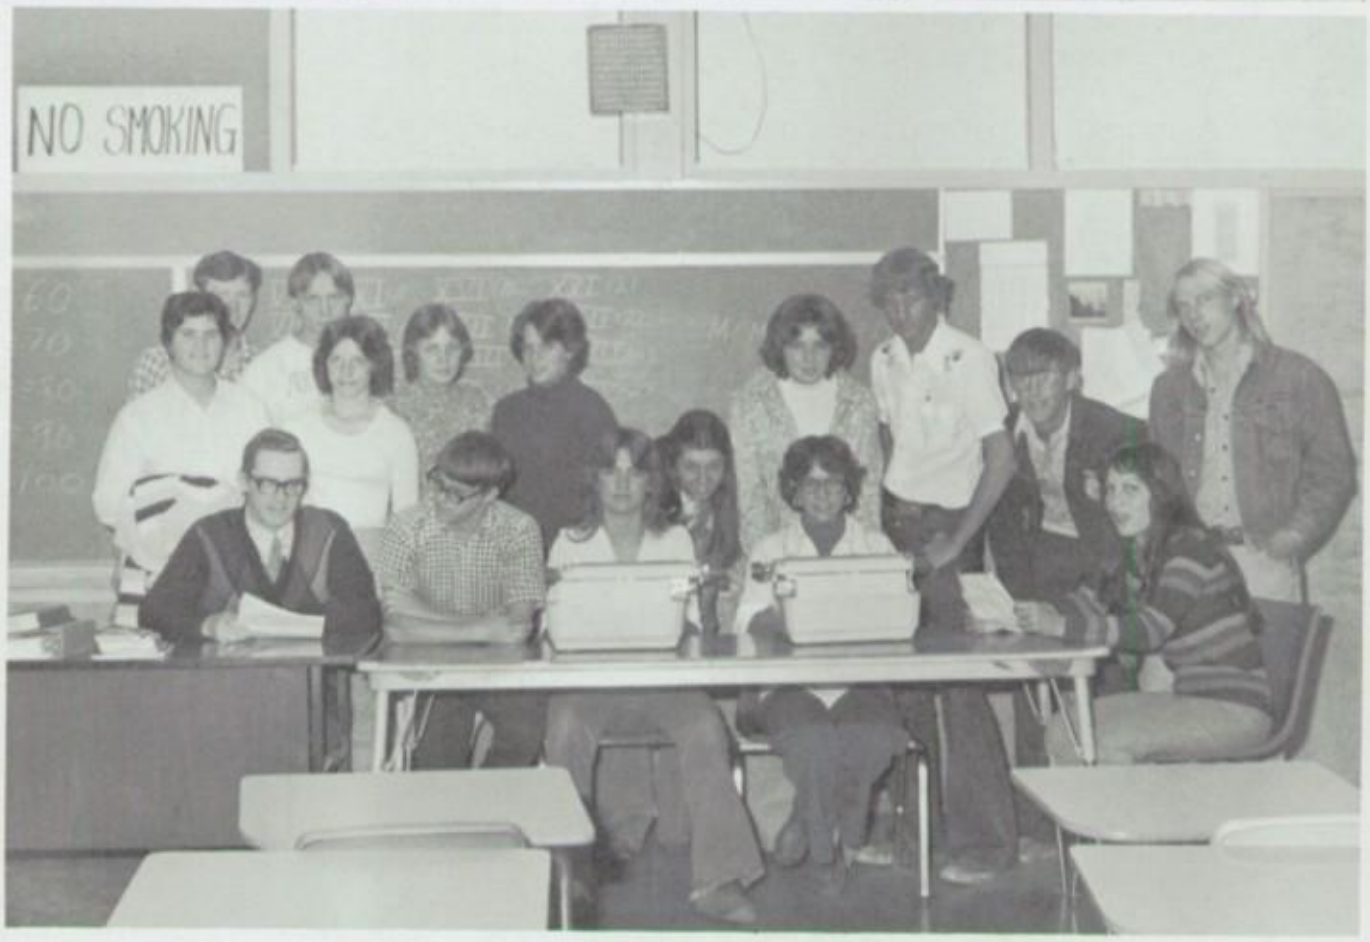
The Yearbook staff, advised by Mr. Van Gesen, consisted of Lisa Boyd and Carol Callahan as Co-editors, Mark Brady - Photographer, Melvin Smart - Lay-out editor, Linda Lee and Mary Ortiz - Typist, Martin Talley - Sports-editor, and Mark Rogers, Mechele Boatman, Donna Maxwell and Kay Coor, Carma Brinkerhoff, Reid Rogers, Monica Baldwin, and Terry Whyman were the working staff.

Although we tried to get new equipment, a darkroom, and cameras through our many candy sales, our efforts this year were much in vain.

Sincerely,
THE YEARBOOK STAFF

Yearbook staff does their share.





LOBO HOWL STAFF

We have tried to put out a Lobo Howl every week, when it was possible.

We send Lobo Howls to other schools and last year's Seniors who subscribe to it.

As being Editor it is a hard job, it is worthwhile, exciting and interesting. I hope that you enjoyed our paper this year, although it was the work of the entire staff.

The Journalism class toured the White Mountain Independent newspaper Plant early in March to see how a newspaper was produced. Members of the Lobo Howl staff attended a state high school Journalism convention held in Phoenix.

The Howl Staff was advised by Mr. Austin.

The LOBO HOWL STAFF this year consisted of-
Editor- Janet Crutchfield
Typist- Linda Adams, Janet Crutchfield
Copy-Editor- Shon Flake
Layout Artist- Shon Flake
Photographers- Rion Ramsey, Mitzi Miller, Jeff Larsen
Reporters- Sherri Brewer, Elaine Call, Alan DeWitt, Greg Floyd, Julie Hatch, Gwen Owens, Lloyd Parker, Ryan Reidhead, Kim Rogers, Bev Sherman, Rhonda Smart, Bev Taylor, Ben Yarn, and Jackie Yarn.

Concert Choir is a select group of students who sing music from all ages. Under the baton of Mr. Clawson, the group has consistently won superior ratings at all music festivals.

Girls Chorus

The Girl's Chorus enjoyed another successful season. Under the direction of Mr. Clawson, the girls performed at a number of home functions, showing the diversity of the female voice. Each girl had to audition to be a member of this select group. At state competetions, the group consoistently brings home either an excellent or superior rating. The style and variety of music aids in the development of music appreciation skills in each member.

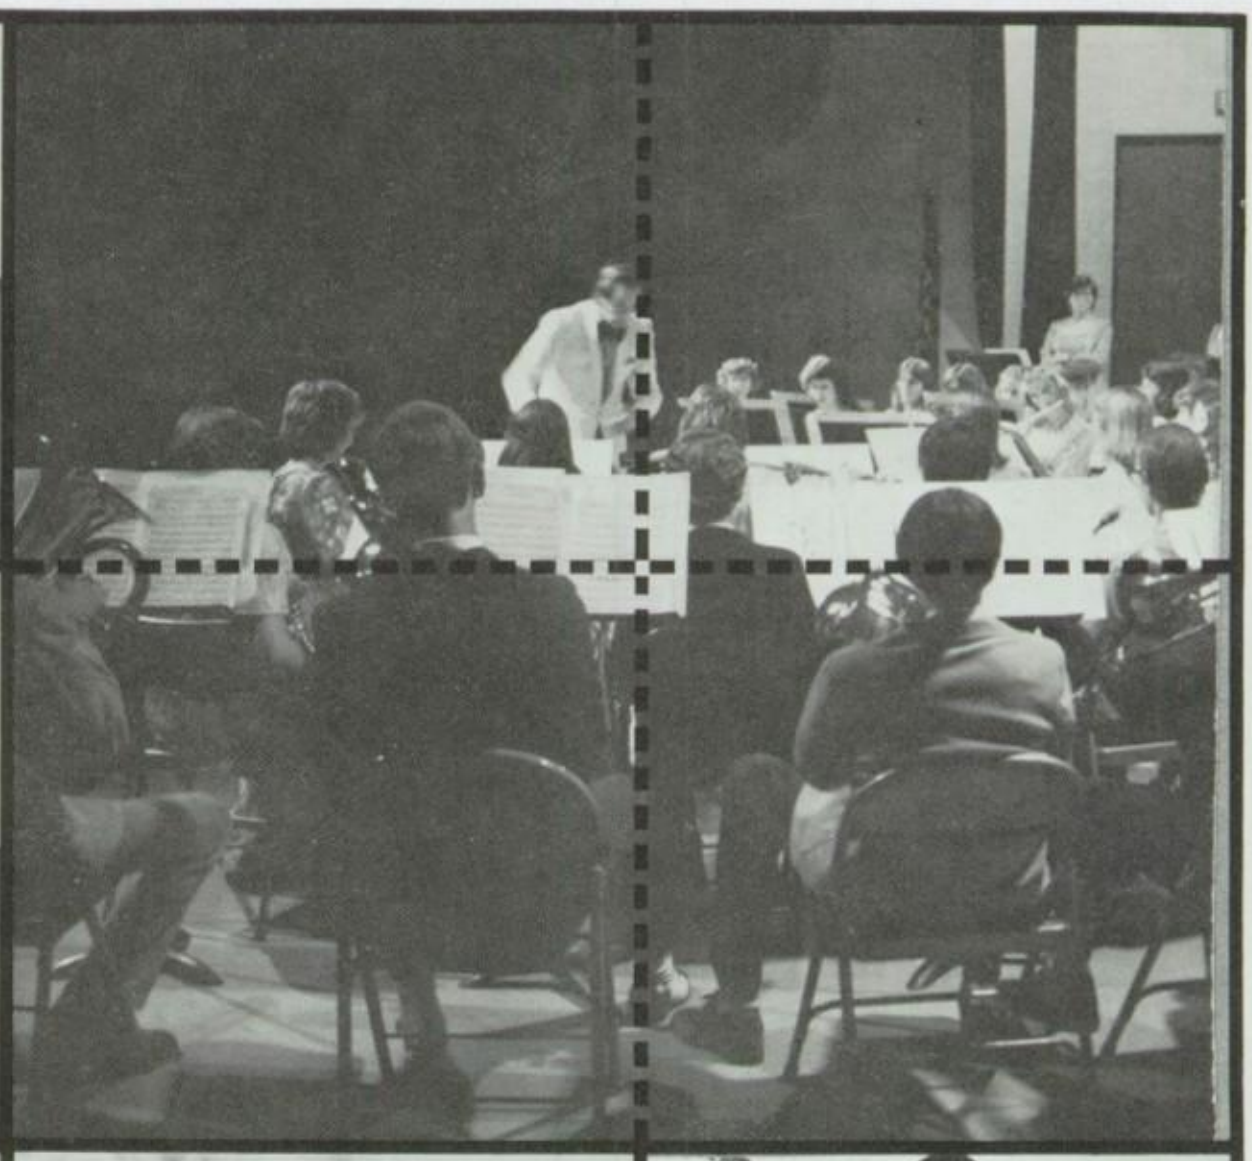
MADRIGALS

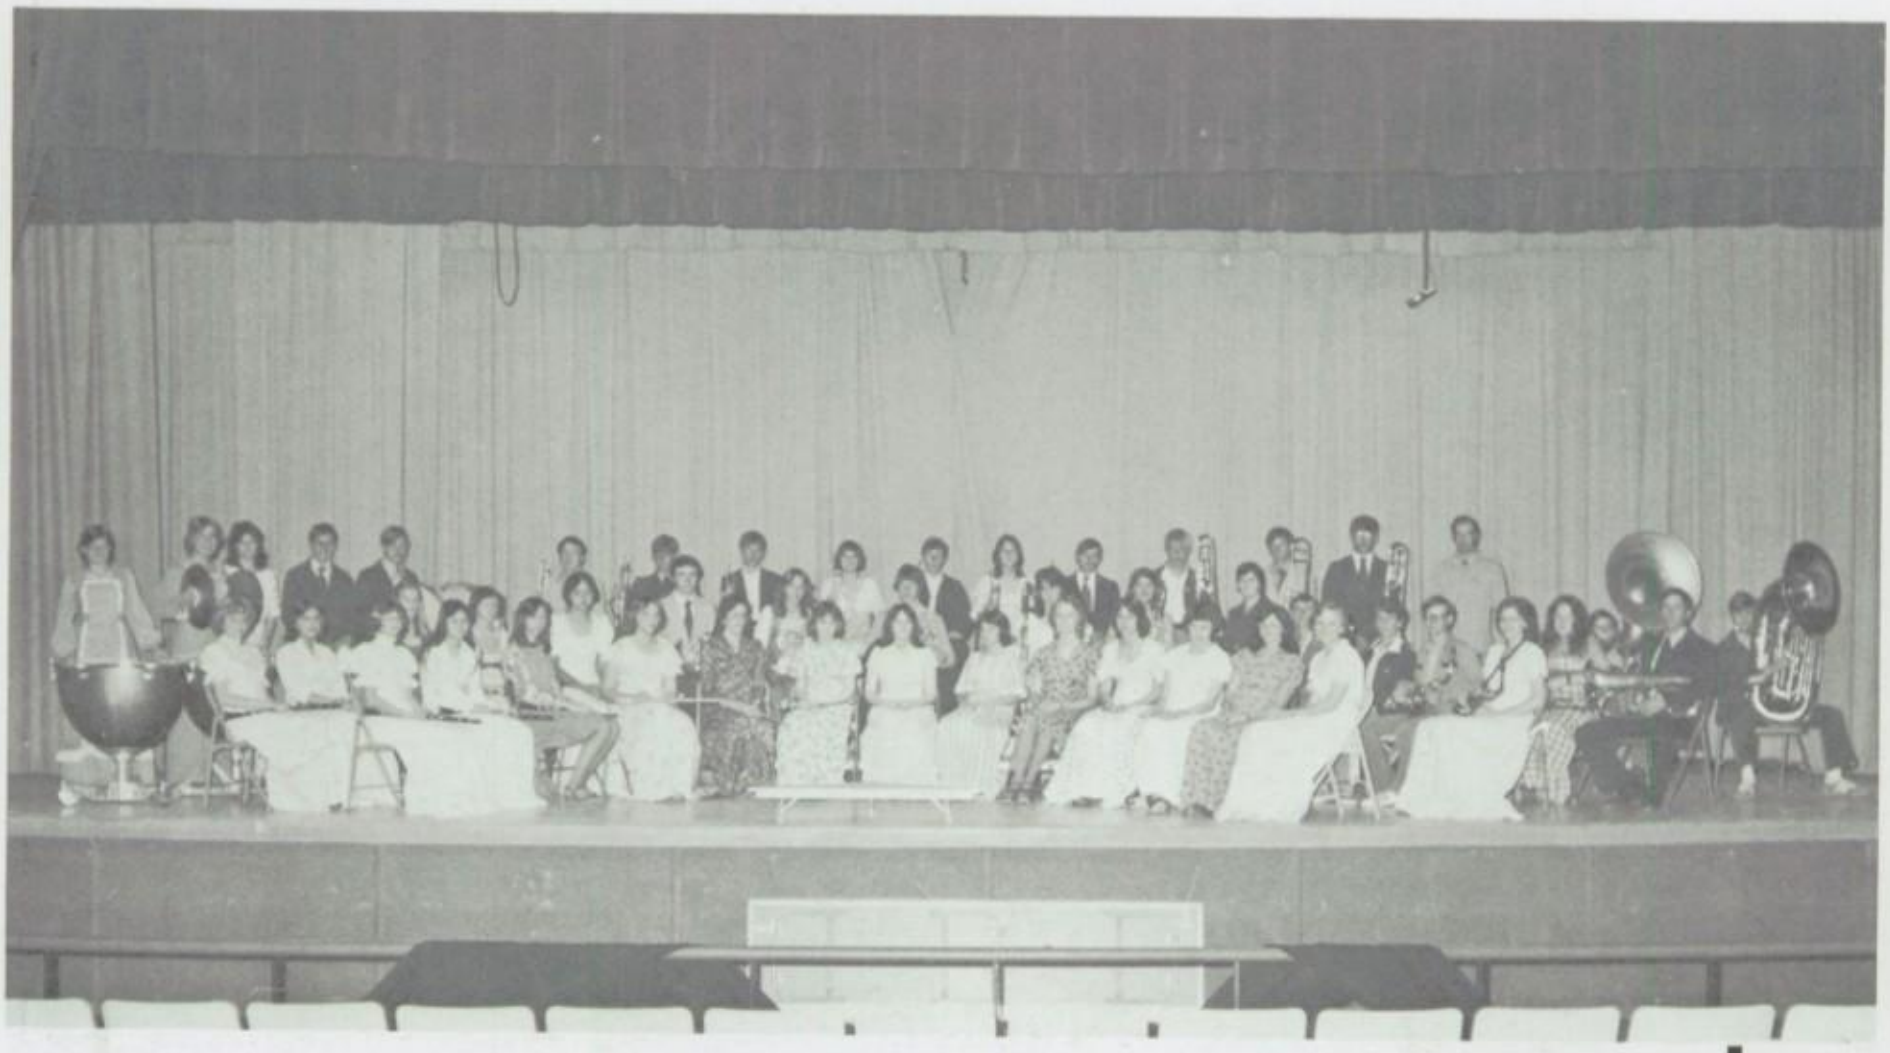
I've thought for weeks on what to put in this square space, but what can you say about something that means so much? Accomplishments? Well, there was the privilege of singing for Dr. Charles Hirt at Madrigal Festival in Flagstaff, and the superior ratings at solo and ensemble at Flagstaff, and the large group at Thatcher. No, I'd guess I'd have to say the greatest accomplishment of the Madrigal was the unique opportunity for 21 students and 1 special teacher to learn and grow together. We strived to overlook the faults and mistakes, yet behind each of them we found something extra that made them worthwhile. We had our share of bad times, but through the good times we discovered that music has a beautiful power . . . the power to bring people closer to each other. We found that by lending ourselves to the music, the music could in turn serve us. Through music we could made ourselves just a little bit better than we really are.

Terri Whyman

I believe in music. I believe in its power . . .

Skilled Band





Concert Band

The Snowflake High School Marching Band contributed greatly to the spirit of the school during the football season. "The band would have been better if it would have had more members," said the director, Mr. Weil. "We also wish the Loboettes could have performed with us more than they did." The band traveled to the University of Arizona for the University's Band Day. There the High School Band observed how well trained bands perform. The band also applyed for an exchange with the Lake Havasu City High School Band, but the trip never materialized.

The Concert Band was formed at the conclusion of the football season. Several concerts were performed by the Concert Band, including as all Spanish Concert featuring a special soloist on the trumpet from the University of Arizona.

Graduation is a night full of memories. The stage is brightly lit and the sound of voices can be heard laughing and talking. The sounds subside and all listen to the speaker and to his memories of times, times that they were once part of. "Using time is the important thing . . . time cannot be stored for it goes on and on, waiting for no man.

We are but minutes, little things,/ each one furnished with sixty wings/with which we fly on our unseen track/and not one of us ever comes back.

Yes, time is our most precious commodity. To use it know your selves, learn to wait, and live in the present. (exerpts from a speech given by Rob Reipel)"

Applause. The crowd murmurs and the graduates receive their diplomas to the flash of cameras to cheers.

What is a teacher? Tis neither hand, nor foot, nor eye . . . Seriously, our faculty sees the wisdom of the ages and teaches this knowledge to the students of Snowflake High School. We, the students, feel that we are fortunate to have such a qualified faculty; one that is willing to share their time and talents with each of us. Truly, we are the most fortunate of men.

Shaune,

Hi lady! Well, sure do miss you. Why in the blazes haven't you written me. Boy I'm mad. Anyway I'm going for a ride like the good ole times when you? Don't have middle of it. And I got to eat. And I was so hungry that I never got a letter. Be shut down. Be good you do.

had to go and decided the main thing was I had to embarrassed it Dave Strangled it Well guess I'll write you soon if you can. Good luck in all

Shawne,
Hey, how's it going girl? Its really been awhile. How's the valley? Wish you would come back to "ZION"! Good bet I can't believe I'm a senior. And don't know what to expect next year. Hey now I'm looking to next year. Hey now see us). But hey good and I'll see you're good and Write me - Box 84.
Hey be cool O.K.
Kim Rogers

Shawne,
I'm sorry you moved, because I didn't get to know you very well. But I know you're a sweet girl. Good luck in the future.
